May 6, 2020

Yesterday, we reminded Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) borrowers of the May 7th safe harbor deadline to return PPP loan proceeds. The Small Business Administration (SBA) announced late yesterday that the May 7th deadline is now extended by one week to May 14th. If you did not have a chance to review our email from yesterday, it is available here. The SBA intends to provide additional guidance on how it will review the certification that "current economic uncertainty makes this loan request necessary to support ongoing operations of the Applicant."

We continue to recommend that PPP borrowers document their certification decision in case it is challenged in the future, taking into account how the business's uncertainty, liquidity, and ability to operate makes the PPP loan necessary. Please contact your Foster Swift attorney if you have any questions about how to apply this standard, or the author of this publication:
